Disaster Kit Notes

Storage: The base-Kit materials should be stored in two waterproof (re-sealable) five-gallon plastic containers. The materials may have to be moved quickly from one location to another. It is easier to carry a five-gallon bucket in each hand than a larger container. In addition to providing safe storage, these containers will be important for transporting water and sanitary materials. They can be used as benches, tables and toilets. Be sure to store all disaster materials in a location that can be easily accessed in the event of an earthquake or other emergency.

The Leatherman Pro-Juice is a multi-purpose tool loaded with everything from pliers, knives and screwdrivers to scissors and a professional style corkscrew.

Doors and windows can become jammed in an earthquake. A Wrecker Pry Bar is useful for opening jammed doors, removing decking, siding, fencing and shingles. It has push-pull action. A 30" pry bar with a 6" rocker head should be sufficient for most needs.

Freedom LED Hybrid Flashlight: Shaking this flashlight causes a magnet to pass through a copper coil, thereby generating electrical power. The capacitor can be charged over 100,000 times. This is an excellent backup to standard battery-powered flashlights.

Eton FR3000 Multi-Purpose Radio: The FR300 is a combination emergency radio, light, and cell phone battery charger. The Hand-Crank Power Generator charges the internal rechargeable Ni-MH battery pack. With the NOAA weather channels and TV-VHF channels, you can find weather forecasts or listen to TV shows when you're away from the set. We recommend that you read the users reviews on Amazon before one of these units. Also, be sure to check that the cell phone adapter works for your particular cell-phone.
